UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI LAW SCHOOL FOUNDATION

When the University of Missouri [Columbia] Law School Foundation was established as a pro forma corporation on April 17, 1928, its stated purpose was as follows: "The corporation is formed for the purpose of promoting and furthering legal education in the State of Missouri. It proposes to accomplish its objects by establishing an endowment and foundation for promoting the interest and welfare of the School of Law of the University of Missouri [Columbia], and for aiding and extending the work and activities of said School of Law."

Law School Foundation awards and prizes based of scholastic performance have significantly furthered legal education in Missouri. The 1972-73 awards and prizes are as follows:

The Roscoe Anderson Award. As a memorial to Mr. Anderson, who for many years served on the Board of Curators, a plaque is presented to a second-year student for excellence in the Finals of the Moot Court Competition, held as a part of the annual Law Day program. The student is selected by the judges who serve as members of the court on Law Day.

The John S. Divilbiss Prize. A prize of the income from a fund of $2,500 is awarded annually to the student who makes the highest grade in the first-year course in Procedure. This prize, established by the Law School Foundation in 1968 with funds provided by law students enrolled in 1967-68 and by alumni and friends, and with additional Law School Foundation funds, is a memorial to Mr. Divilbiss ('49), a faculty member from 1960 until his death in 1967.

Judge Roy W. Harper Prize. This prize was established by Mr. Elliot H. Stein and Mr. M. R. Chambers in honor of Judge Roy Harper's sixty-fifth birthday. The annual income from their gift and others that may be added to this fund is to establish a prize to be awarded annually to the student who does the best work in the course in Federal Courts.

The Bernard T. Hurwitz Memorial Prize. A prize of approximately $50 is awarded annually to a student who does the best work and attains the best scholastic standing in Taxation. This prize was established by the Law School Foundation from funds provided by friends and associates as a memorial to Mr. Hurwitz, a UMC alumnus.

The John D. Lawson Prize. As a memorial to the Honorable J. D. Lawson, former Dean of the Law School, the Law School Foundation offers a prize of $50 in cash or law books to the student regularly enrolled in the first year class who does the best work in Contracts.

The Alexander Martin Prize. As a memorial to the Honorable Alexander Martin, former Dean of the Law School, the Law School Foundation offers a prize of $50 in cash or law books to the student regularly enrolled in the second-year class who does the best work in Evidence.

The J. Lewis Parks Prize. Following the death in 1971 of Mr. Parks ('46) of the Kansas City bar, his family, fellow lawyers, and other friends made memorial gifts to the Law School Foundation, and an endowed prize was established in his name. The prize is awarded to the student who receives the highest grade in Trade Regulation.

The Iko Skelton, Sr. Memorial Award for Trial Practice. As a memorial to Mr. Skelton, Sr. ('26), a former University Curator who was deeply interested in the encouragement and training of young lawyers in the art of advocacy, his family established a trust in 1967 providing an award to the law student who receives the highest grade in Trial Practice. The recipient's name is engraved on a plaque which hangs in the Law School and he receives a prize of $100.

The Guy A. Thompson Prizes. The Law School Foundation annually awards four prizes to students who publish comments or notes in the Missouri Law Review. Prizes are as follows: $100 for the best comment; $75 for the second best comment; $75 for the best note; $50 for the second best note.

The United Missouri Bank of Kansas City Estate Planning Award. Annual awards of $125 and $75 are made to the two seniors who, in the faculty's judgment, have made the most notable achievement in Estate Planning or in a related subject during the year.

The University of Missouri Law School Foundation Prize: A $100 award is given a senior for outstanding scholastic achievement as determined by the Law School Foundation trustees.

In subsequent issues of the Missouri Law Review other Law School Foundation programs will be described.
